

CE Certification Opens EU Market To Six Cortec® MCI® Concrete Protection Products!

Cortec® Corporation is now certified to use CE marking on six Migrating Corrosion Inhibitor™ (MCI®) products for the protection and repair of concrete structures: MCI® CorrVerter®, MCI®-2018, MCI®-2019, MCI®-2021, MCI® Architectural Coating, and MCI® Wall Defense. The marking certifies that Cortec® meets the 2+ certification system requirements for assessing and verifying the constancy of these products under the EN 1504 standard and allows the products to be sold freely across the European Union.

To qualify for CE certification, Cortec® sent the six MCI® products for extensive testing at an independent lab in Spain.

To learn more about Cortec's innovative MCI® products, please visit: www.cortecmci.com

Global Technology Solutions

Global Technology Solutions is a leading provider of software and services for the construction industry. Our solutions are designed to improve project efficiency, reduce risk, and increase profitability. We offer a wide range of products, including project management, financial management, and human resources management. Our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each client, ensuring that they get the most out of their technology investment. With a strong track record and a commitment to innovation, we are the go-to partner for construction professionals looking to optimize their operations.

Advanced Solutions

Advanced Solutions is a leading provider of software and services for the construction industry. Our solutions are designed to improve project efficiency, reduce risk, and increase profitability. We offer a wide range of products, including project management, financial management, and human resources management. Our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each client, ensuring that they get the most out of their technology investment. With a strong track record and a commitment to innovation, we are the go-to partner for construction professionals looking to optimize their operations.

Global Technology Solutions

Global Technology Solutions is a leading provider of software and services for the construction industry. Our solutions are designed to improve project efficiency, reduce risk, and increase profitability. We offer a wide range of products, including project management, financial management, and human resources management. Our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each client, ensuring that they get the most out of their technology investment. With a strong track record and a commitment to innovation, we are the go-to partner for construction professionals looking to optimize their operations.

Global

Global Technology Solutions is a leading provider of software and services for the construction industry. Our solutions are designed to improve project efficiency, reduce risk, and increase profitability. We offer a wide range of products, including project management, financial management, and human resources management. Our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each client, ensuring that they get the most out of their technology investment. With a strong track record and a commitment to innovation, we are the go-to partner for construction professionals looking to optimize their operations.

Advanced Solutions

Advanced Solutions is a leading provider of software and services for the construction industry. Our solutions are designed to improve project efficiency, reduce risk, and increase profitability. We offer a wide range of products, including project management, financial management, and human resources management. Our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each client, ensuring that they get the most out of their technology investment. With a strong track record and a commitment to innovation, we are the go-to partner for construction professionals looking to optimize their operations.